A first look has arrived at one of Fort Lauderdale Beach's most anticipated residential developments. New renderings reveal what's planned inside @theresidencesftlbeach, the 13-story boutique project coming to 551 Bayshore Drive with just 83 private residences starting at approximately $3.4 million. The images showcase the future lobby, resort-style pool bar, fitness center, residents' lounge, kids playroom and private media room, while new comments from Admire Capital CEO and Founder Diana Ulis provide an update on the project's progress. Developed by MICL and Admire Capital, with architecture by Garcia Stromberg and interiors by Dan Fink Studio, the branded residence marks The Ritz-Carlton's arrival to Fort Lauderdale's luxury residential market.
